

STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF ARKEBE OQUBAY FOR DIRECTOR GENERAL OF UNIDO

25th May 2021

The world is facing a series of challenges that threatens to undermine global stability and reverse the progress that has been made towards combating poverty and inequality. The global Covid-19 health crisis has had severe economic and social repercussions and increased the number of people facing hunger; climate change is occurring much faster than anticipated, triggering water shortages and damaging vital ecosystems; pollution is contributing to health problems in several parts of the world; and the economic and technological gap between the haves and the have-nots is causing rising social strains and fuelling potential conflicts.

Against the backdrop of these interlocking challenges, revitalizing the United Nations Industrial Development Organization (UNIDO) is becoming increasingly urgent, given its role in the promotion of industrial development for poverty reduction, inclusive globalization, and environmental sustainability.

We believe that Dr Arkebe Oqubay has the leadership qualities to address these difficult challenges, reinvigorate UNIDO, and formulate a new vision with the revival of industry, jobs, and gender-balanced sustainable development at its heart. His goal is to accelerate technological transformation to promote inclusive growth and sustainable industrialization, while enhancing technological learning, technology transfer, and innovation, with a particular focus on small and medium-sized enterprises, women, and young people. To build a better future as we recover from the Covid pandemic, he aims to reshape industrial development, build in resistance to future shocks, and mobilize additional resources through policy dialogue. That is why the African Union has endorsed his candidature for the post of UNIDO Director General.

For the past 30 years, Dr Arkebe has established an impressive record across the African continent, with bold leadership and ambitious transformation that has delivered lasting change at the heart of his work. As founding Chair of the Board of the Industrial Parks Development Corporation, Dr Arkebe led the development of Ethiopia's national network of eco-industrial parks and special economic zones. As Mayor of Addis Ababa, he transformed the city into a vibrant, investment-friendly political and diplomatic hub. And if he becomes the new Director General of UNIDO, Dr Arkebe will lead and deliver a program of revitalization giving fresh purpose to the agency and spurring on a new spirit of green industrial growth with tangible results across the developing world.

Any approach to calming the aftershocks of the pandemic must also resolve urgent shortcomings in our sustainable development agenda. In this context, it is vital that UNIDO vigorously pursues its core mission as an enabler of lasting and transformational economic growth.

That is why we believe that Dr Arkebe has the leadership qualities that are needed to achieve equitable and sustainable global industrialization amidst all these challenges. Dr Arkebe stands alone as the candidate with a track record of a global change maker leading, participating in, and delivering productive investment and meaningful change in the developing world.

We endorse him as the next Director General of UNIDO.

Signed:

Antonio Andreoni, Associate Professor of Industrial Economics, University College London

Deborah Brautigam, Bernard L. Schwartz Professor of International Political Economy, Director China Africa Research Initiative, School of Advanced International Studies, Johns Hopkins University

Michael Best, Assistant Professor of Economics, Columbia University

Ha-Joon Chang, Reader in Economics, Cambridge University

Horman Chitonge, Professor and Head of African Studies, Centre for African Studies, University of Cape Town

Wan-wen Chu, Adjunct Research Fellow, RCHSS Academia Sinica, Taipei

Jorge Cornick, Senior Partner, DRP Trejos y Cornick, Professor of Globalization and Development, Ulacit

Ken Coutts, Emeritus Researcher, Macroeconomic Research Group, University of Cambridge

Christopher Cramer, Professor of the Political Economy of Development, Department of Development Studies, School of Oriental and African Studies (SOAS)

Rob Davies, former Minister of Trade and Industry, Republic of South Africa

Jonathan Di John, Senior Lecturer in Political Economy, Development Studies, SOAS, University of London

Adeyemi Dipeolu, Special Adviser to the President on Economic Matters, Federal Republic of Nigeria

Abdoulaye Diop, Former Foreign Minister, Mali and Chief of Staff, African Union

Rob Davis, Former Minister of Trade and Industry, South Africa

Daniel E. Esser, Chair, Development Geographies Specialty Group (AAG), Associate Professor, American University

Alice Evans, Lecturer in the Social Science of Development, Kings College London

Kevin Gallagher, Professor of Global Development Policy, Director of the Global Development Centre, Boston University

Gary Gereffi, Department of Sociology, Duke University

Adam Mahomed Habib Director of the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London

Laura Hammond, Professor of Development Studies, SOAS, University of London

Faizel Ismail, Nelson Mandela School of Public Governance, University of Cape Town

Gerd Junne, Emeritus Professor, University of Amsterdam

Richard Itaman, Lecturer in Comparative Political Economy of Development, Kings College London

Hisaki Kono, Associate Professor, Graduate School of Economics, Kyoto University

Richard Kozul-Wright, Director, Globalisation and Development Strategies Division, United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD)

Won Kidane, Professor of Law, Seattle School of Law

Akifumi Kuchiki, Former Executive Vice President of Japan External Trade Organization, Visiting Professor Open University of Japan

Michael A Landesmann, former Scientific Director, Vienna Institute for International Economic Studies (wiiw) and Professor of Economics, Johannes Kepler University, Austria

Frannie Leautier, Senior Partner, CEO, Southbridge Investments

Keun Lee, Director for Centre for Economics, Seoul National University; Vice President of National Economic Advisory Council, chaired by the President of Republic of Korea

Chen Li, Assistant Professor in China Studies, The Chinese University of Hong Kong

Justin Yifu Lin, Peking University and Former Chief Economist World Bank

Carlos Lopes, Former UNECA Executive Secretary, Mandela School of Public Governance, Cape Town University

Stefano Manservigi, Former European Commission as Director-General for International Cooperation and Development (DEVCO)

Strive Masiyiwa, Chairman and founder of Econet Wireless

Ibrahim Assane Mayaki, Chief Executive Officer of the Secretariat of the New Partnership for Africa's Development (NEPAD) and former Prime Minister of Niger

Nicholas Meisel, Lead Regional Economist, Indian Ocean Region, Mauritius

James Mittelman, Distinguished Research Professor and University Professor Emeritus, School of International Service, American University, Washington

Celestin Monga, Visiting Professor of Public Policy, Harvard John F. Kennedy School of Government

Deepak Nayyar, Emeritus Professor of Economics, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi

José Antonio Ocampo, Director, Economic and Political Development Concentration, School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University, and former Executive Secretary of ECLAC and DESA

Izumi Ohno, Professor and Director, International Cooperation Concentration, National Graduate Institute for Policy Studies (GRIPS)

Kenichi Ohno, Professor, National Graduate Institute for Policy Studies (GRIPS)

Carlos Oya, Professor, SOAS, University of London

Wilson Peres, Senior Economic Affairs Officer, UN Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC)

Helena Perez-Nino, Centre for Development Studies, University of Cambridge

Jonathan Pincus, President of Rajawali Foundation, Jakarta, Indonesia

Robert Pollin, Distinguished University Professor of Economics and Co-Director of the Political Economy Research Institute (PERI), University of Massachusetts-Amherst

Gabriel Porcile, Oficial a Cargo, CEPAL, Montevideo, Uruguay

Erik Reinert, Professor of Technology Governance and Development Strategies, Tallinn University of Technology

Simon Roberts, Professor, University of Johannesburg, Visiting Professor University College London

Graeme Salaman, Professor Emeritus, Business School, Open University

Stephanie Seguino, Professor, Dept of Economics, Fellow of the Gund Institute for the Environment, University of Vermont

John Sender, Professor Emeritus, Economics Dept, SOAS, University of London

Jung Won Sonn, Associate Professor, Bartlett School of Planning, University College London

Howard Stein, Professor, Department of Afroamerican and African Studies, University of Michigan Ann Arbor

Servaas Storm, Senior Researcher, Faculty of Technology, Policy, and Management, Delft University of Technology

John Sutton, Professor Emeritus of Economics, London School of Economics

Alemayehu Seyoum Taffesse, Senior Research Fellow and Program Leader, IFPRI, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia

Camilla Toulmin, former Director of the International Institute for Environment and Development

Taffere Tesfachew, Senior Advisor, Tony Blair Institute for Global Change, member UN Committee for Development Policy

Fiona Tregenna, South African Research Chair (SARChI) in Industrial Development and Professor of Economics, University of Johannesburg

Yoshiteru Uramoto, Former Deputy Director General UNIDO

Imraan Valodia, Dean, Faculty of Commerce, Law and Management, University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg and Director, Southern Centre for Inequality Studies (SCIS)

George Yeo, Former Minister of Trade and Industry, Singapore

Robert Wade, Professor of Global Political Economy, Department of International Development, London School of Economics

John Weiss, Emeritus Professor of Development Economics, University of Bradford

Nick Westcott, former Managing Director for Africa and former MD, Middle East and North Africa, European Union

Myles Wickstead CBE, Visiting Professor, Kings College London

Dirk Willem te Velde, Principal Research Fellow and Programme Director International Economic Development Group, Overseas Development Institute (ODI), London

Graham Wrigley, Chairman of CDC Group

Nimrod Zalk, Industrial Development Advisor and former deputy director-general, South African Department of Trade, Industry, and Competition, and adjunct associate professor, University of Cape Town's Nelson Mandela School of Public Governance